White Feather on Hidden Agenda's

Whilst White Feather and his spirit world contemporaries seldom elaborate on the affairs of mankind, preferring instead to focus upon universal truths which extend far beyond the boundaries of our world, more and more there appears to growing concern in the spirit world as to the future of humanity. After all, what man does to himself and the earth effects directly, future generations of souls who may wish to reincarnate.

Perhaps the time is fast approaching for all of us to question whether or not we are prepared to allow the global manipulation of our thinking, our actions and our very way of life to be altered to suit the agenda of those whose motives are anything but spiritual, or whether we are prepared to fight for what we know to be our divine heritage; the truth that we are individualized, reasoning, spiritual beings.

Here is a selection of comments made by White Feather and drawn from recordings made at various gatherings over the last few years.

Question: "I was giving healing recently and I saw clairvoyantly the changes to come.....people were frightened.....I was told that we should not be getting clairvoyance when we give healing, but all the same, we don't yet know the evil to come. Is this true?"

White Feather: "Well let me say that thee is a great darkness which is yet to emerge upon the earth and I don't wish to frighten or disturb any of you. But there are minds of the lower order which, even as I speak seek to manipulate thinking, to direct humanity into ways of manipulation and control that would deny the divine heritage of the spirit, which is the rightful heritage of all of you. You have to be vigilant and aware of any form of control of your thinking and actions, anything that erodes your freewill and freedom of thought.

You often think that you live in a democracy but you do not, because even as I speak to you, you are controlled and manipulated in ways of which you are not always aware. So you have to learn to be wary of the propaganda that is given to you and to use your reasoning mind. Because certainly what you are fed through you media, through your newspapers and your television bears little resemblance to the reality of things and the example which you gave in the way in which healing is sought to be controlled and manipulated is only the tip of the iceberg.

There needs to be, as I have often said, a revolution. Not a violent, bloody revolution, but a revolution of thought and of action where you as individuals can take power back to your selves, not to be controlled and hand it over to governments and companies who manipulate and whose desire is wealth and material possessions. That is not right. The real power in your world lies within you as individuals and when humanity collectively begins to realise that, then and only then will there be any radical changes. But I am afraid that there will be a darkness which will come upon the earth before there is light. But do not despair because there is a plan which is unfolding. These things are known and even though man can hinder and delay and even destroy to a point, he cannot prevent the outworking of the plan because always remember this; the universe and everything contained within it has been devised and continues to exist through perfect mind. The mind of the Great Spirit. Always remember that matter is servant, spirit is master."

Speaking about the same subject on another occasion:

Question: "You have said previously that there would be some major changes in the world. Recently there has been some unrest in our supply of energy and people have not responded as anticipated. Is this the start of those changes that you anticipated?"

White Feather: "As I have already said there is an undercurrent, whether I would use the word 'awareness', I don't know, but an undercurrent within humanity, an inkling at some level that things are not right. That things are not as they should be. There is restlessness; man's spirit is restless because he knows that there are those who have another agenda and seek to manipulate and control his spirit and his spirit will never be subdued and controlled and forced into channels where it is never intended to go. So there is this restlessness and there are many in your world that senses this, who feel this vibration and don't understand it. They don't know why they are restless; they just know that things aren't as they should be. This is because of the energies that are now coming into your world that are encouraging this and this will grow and get stronger."

White Feather went on to explain the difficult times that lay ahead for the world and the forces seeking to control civilization.

"I have to say that there will be clashes, there will be unrest, there will be times when the forces of negativity and positivity meet head on and there will be all kinds of upset. But you know, there has to be change in order for a new way of thinking to be born and very often it is from the ashes that the phoenix raises. What you are seeing is the first instances; the first flourishes if you like, the first skirmishes of that which is to follow.

Do not misunderstand, I never advocate violence in any form, but there has to be a challenging directive, there has to be a revolution, not a revolution that is bloody, but a revolution of thinking, and very often this involves tearing down the old before the new can come through."

Continuing his theme, White Feather drew upon an analogy with nature and explained how decay inevitably gives way to new growth:

"You know, many, many centuries ago when I was upon your earth plane we learned how to respect nature and we learned how the elements would very often sweep something of great beauty away, to leave a place desolate. Then we would watch as the new shoots began to form and new life came to replace the old. And this is how the old order of thinking in your world, which is stagnating, is beginning to crumble.

You only have to look at religion and look at your orthodox churches, which are more empty than full because people are beginning to question, they will no longer accept the age old dogma and doctrine that has been spoon fed to them. They don't want it and it will be the same in all arenas, all areas of life. Politics, of which I do not speak very often, will be a prime area of change because the old systems of politics and the old way of doing things must give way to a greater and more spiritual, charitable way of living. So what you are seeing are the first instances of this change, but it won't happen in your lifetime here on this earth at this time."
