Masai Mara Safari

The Masai Mara National Reserve is situated 168 km south of the equator, its southern edge forming part of Kenya's boundary with Tanzania. Through the centre of the reserve runs the Mara River, a tree-lined permanent watercourse which becomes a rushing torrent when in full spate after the heavy April rains. The river is a very popular tourist attraction, there are numerous hippo pools and there is always something to see along its banks. Elsewhere in the reserve the visitor will not travel far without discovering something to excite and photographers should carry plenty of extra film. During July and August an abundance of grass, fresh after the long rains, attracts vast herds of wildebeest which enter the reserve during their annual migration from the Serengeti Plains in Tanzania. At other times the reserve still boasts huge numbers of animals: the 'Big Five' (buffalo, elephant, leopard, lion and rhino) are all present as well as the more common species of game.

Mara Siria is a specially designed luxury tented bush camp for those travellers who want to experience a true wildlife safari off the beaten track. Mara Siria Camp reverts to the original spirit to the true meaning of "Safari" by offering individual services and private atmosphere. The camp's location on top of the Siria Escarpment offers an absolute unique and stunning view into the plains of the Maasai Mara Triangle and at the Mara River. Eight spacious luxury tents – each with en-suite bathroom and an own private veranda – are generously spread across the Siria Escarpment line to ensure guests an optimum of privacy and recreation. Mara Siria is an eco-friendly, solar powered camp which is perfectly integrated into the existing landscape without harming the beauty of the natural wilderness.
