The dates quoted are those of German tv transmission, not necessarily recording dates. Several episodes from this series have been retitled over the years and re-issued as individual programmes. Similarly, some episodes were bought-in from outside production companies and shown as if made specially for the series. Some of the obvious films of this nature have been excluded from this listing but are shown elsewhere under their original titles.

46. Recorded on 7th November 1967 in Stadthalle, Karlsruhe.

ROOBARB
Bob Godfrey
Music by: Johnny Hawksworth
Individual titles in this series:-
When Roobarb didn't see the sun come up...
When Roobarb turned over a new leaf.
When Roobarb wasn't as pleased as punch.
When Roobarb found sauce
When Roobarb made a spike.
When Roobarb was being bored, then not being bored.
When there wasn't treasure.
When it wasn't Thursday.
When there was someone else.
When the tree fell to pieces
When it was night.
When it was Christmas.
When the sun was just right.
When the opera wasn't a phantom.
When Roobarb was cheating.
When Custard was sorry.
When Roobarb mixed the paint.
When Roobarb's heart ruled his head.
When you're going to fly - fly high.
When the day didn't arrive.
When Roobarb did the lions share.
When Roobarb was at the end of his tether. (and so was Custard)
When Custard stole the show.
When there was a dance at Foxes Dale.
When the day wouldn't keep still.
When Roobarb got a long break.
When the pipes call the tune.
When a knight lost his day.
When Custard got too near the bone.
When there was a big mix-up.

When Custard was very very naughty
When the books went bye bye
When there was a wind-up
When Roobarb found the hieroglyphics
When it ended in tears
When there was a big band

Individual titles in this series:-
When mouse arrived for Christmas
When there was a time warp
When the garden was dry
When it was cool to be smooth
When modern thingamajigs needed tweaking
When there was an opera
When the wind blows the space age will stop
When there was a pottery party
When Roobarb went on a fitness drive
When the computer went on the blink

So-called Scopitones were similar in effect to the Soundies of the 1940s, but much improved technically, inasmuch as the 3-4 minute films were produced on 16mm in colour, with magnetic sound and could be viewed individually. Several different companies made them for showing on the Scopitone machines which were located in bars, cafés and restaurants. They were particularly popular in France. This writer remembers at least one of them in regular use in an Italian coffee bar in London.

The 130-segment, 3-year run of "Stars of Jazz" in Southern California is notoriously difficult to document accurately in view of the permanent loss of 65% of the series and the errors and omissions in listings, discographies and sleeve notes. No reliable filmography of the series has yet been published and it is a subject long overdue for in-depth research. The entries here should therefore be seen as being work in progress as some of the personnel listings have yet to be established and others confirmed. In general the dates given are recording dates; first transmissions were not necessarily on the same dates.

Music by: Henry Mancini
Music Directed/Conducted by: Henry Mancini

Music Orchestrated by: Leo Shukien, Jack Hayes

Soundtrack Personnel: Inc: Bud Shank, alto sax, flute; Jimmy Rowles, Pearl Kaufman, piano; Muzzy Marcellino, whistling.

One of the two matched pianos was deliberately tuned a quarter-tone flat so that the difference in pitch would be very disturbing when the same chords were played together. Numerous contemporary sources both in the UK and in the USA claim that the end title song is performed by Bobby Darin but this appears to be an error that has been blindly copied across the years.

THE WILD ONE/HOT BLOOD
USA 1953 – f
dir László Benedek
Music by: Leith Stevens
Music Arranged by: Shorty Rogers
Soundtrack Personnel: Inc: Shorty Rogers, Mamie Klein, Pete Candoli, trumpet; Milt Bernhart, trombone; Bud Shank, reeds; Johnny Williams, drums.

Although this mainly source music score was composed and arranged specifically to be performed by Shorty Rogers and his Giants the studio would not allow Rogers to use his own musicians for the soundtrack; it had to be performed by Columbia's staff orchestra. But Rogers himself was allowed to solo and Bud Shank has assured this writer that he was on the session together with Milt Bernhart (who was already contracted to the studio) and Pete Candoli. The various commercially issued "soundtrack recordings" must therefore be viewed with some suspicion.
