VENTURES BEYOND MEDITERRANEAN INTO MASTERFUL FLORIDA DESIGN

WRITTEN BY LESLIE MCKERNS

With offices in Boca Raton and Stuart, Florida, Garcia Stromberg is a 65-person firm providing services in Architecture, Interior Design, Land Planning, Project Feasibility and Graphic Design. Headed by Jorge Garcia, AIA, and Peter Stromberg, AIA, their current posture as a firm is one in constant pursuit of a unified philosophical goal. Experience of the senior partners and project managers fused with fresh, limitless, academic thinking of young associates is morphing the group into a highly efficient intellectual machine.

The biggest compliment for architect Jorge Garcia, AIA, Principal, Garcia Stromberg Architects, is: I wonder who did that? Producing head-turning design and making us take a second look is what this Boca Raton architectural group is all about. Garcia Brenner Architectural Group is enticing us with design beyond Mediterranean, producing architecture that makes us grateful to be living in South Florida - a man-made and natural paradise.

Modern, timeless, tropical - sparked with traditional. "All this is more than possible with today's architectural design," says Garcia. "So much of architecture is what we've seen before. You might say we're driven to get off the conventional. We're experimenting with both natural and synthetic (man made) materials, such as formed steel, plastics and translucent glasses."
