For additional math practice, your child can continue working on math skills in the Front Row program. <https://student.frontrowed.com/#login> This is a great program that focuses on a variety of skills and individualizes instruction based on a pretest that your child has taken/can take on various domains.

Your child can get additional reading practice from leveled books through the Raz-Kids computer program. <https://www.raz-kids.com> Your child may also have enough points to have some fun and continue building a robot or rocket! This feature is not available on an iPad. Remember your child can automatically move to the next level when all books have three checks. Please ONLY allow your child to listen to the book after he/she has read the book independently and passed the quiz.

Spelling City is also available for extra practice at home. The regular and Challenge units are open through Unit 20. <https://www.spellingcity.com>
